Product Description

SOLO represents the best of Arcam music technology housed in one sleek, easy-to-operate unit. SOLO consists of an audiophile CD player, a 75 watts per channel amplifier and a high performance tuner suitable for either FM/AM or FM/DAB digital radio. The result is a product that is much more than the sum of its parts - a music system that's a delight to use and will captivate all who listen.

The Solo is possibly the finest "all in one" Hi-Fi system available. However, it can also be connected to additional sources using its additional input and output connectors. A full list of these is overleaf:

Inputs:

Game, TV, AV, Tape (back panel RCAs)
Front (front panel 3.5mm stereo jack)

Line Level Outputs:

Tape, Pre-out, Zone 2 (back panel RCAs)
Digital (back panel Toslink optical)

Other Outputs:

Speakers (back panel 4mm sockets)
Headphones (front panel 3.5mm stereo jack)

To enable Solo to be controlled from other places IR inputs are found on the back panel for control of Zone 1 and Zone 2 independently (Zone 2 always follows the same source as Zone 1 but has independent volume control). For more complex systems an RS-232 control port is also found on the back panel.

Whatever music is being played the Solo delivers true audiophile performance in an easy to use package with timeless styling.
